AUCIDEST. BALTIMORE, April 26,

Yesterday morning at half-past twelve clock the steamer Massachusetts, with a lead of soldiers, the greater portion being exchanged and paroled prisoners, collided with a steamer named the Black Diamond, a small barge propeller, in the Potemac river, one mile from Blackstone Island which was acting there as a picket boat, and had on board a guard of twenty men The Massachusetts struck the Black Dismond on the port side about the boiler, inking her in about three minutes. In the excitement attending the collision many of the soldiers became panic stricken and beyond control, and many were drowned. The Massachusetts lay near the spot till daylight, pickiking up about 100 men, who either jumped or were thrown by the force of the collision on the wreck of the Black Diamond. Captain Holmes of the 34 Veteran Feserve corps was the officer in command of the troops, and from a statement nate by him, it appears that the loss of life, as near as can be ascertained at present, will exceed fifty.

FROM SHERMAN.

Washington, April 25. We have information from Sherman's army of an important character. It ap-pears that Johnston's first letter to General Sherman proposed a surrender of his army on the same terms of Lee's surrender. A eting was arranged at which Wade Hampton was present. He protested against the terms of surrender, and declar-ed he would not surrender his cavalry force, upposed to be about three thousand strong. Thereupon Sherman consented to delay for he purpose of giving Johnston and Hampon an opportunity to consult Davis.

Another meeting was arranged for the next day. On that day the parties again met, and at the first sitting the remark able memorandum or basis of agreement was presented and at once signed.

The World's Raleigh correspondent of the 19th says the conferences between Sherman and Johnston have come to a conclusion which is believed in the army to be eminently satisfactory. What passed at the interview they had is known only to themselves. When they met they locked arms and walked to-gether into the house where the conference took place, and there shut themselves up for several hours, leaving their respective followers and Staff of-floers to fraternize and get along as best No one who accompanied General Sherman has any ide of what subjects were dis-cussed or what termr were proposed, acepted or declined.

General Sherman is never a communi-sative man with respect to matters of imre reticent than usual. The Herald's Washington special says There is news in Richmond to the effect that General Johnston, while negotiating erms with Sherman marched offnis troops
